We can help you

Philip Costigan PhD was Director of Mission for seven aged care facilities and a hospital providing palliative and interim care and rehabilitation for ten years, with responsibility for educating board members, managers, staff and volunteers in mission, vision, values and ethics.

His team provided pastoral care, counselling and church services for residents and patients.

Philip is a qualified teacher, with Master's degrees in religious studies and education, a doctorate in Australian Spirituality, and a Graduate Certificate in Ageing and Pastoral Studies.

Patricia Rose PhD has a Bachelor of Divinity, a Master of Arts in Elderly Women's Spirituality, and a Doctorate in Women's Spirituality. She has lectured at university on religion, spirituality and social justice, and now facilitates workshops, retreats and rituals in these areas.

Patricia also works as a consultant to the nonprofit sector, assisting organisations with strategic planning; mission, vision, and values statements; policy and procedures; funding submissions; project management and evaluation.
